BURNET HIGH SCHOOL

friendship! No one needs to tell a Burnet High School student that his school is synonymous with the word "friendliness", because we feel that it has always held this ideal.

friendship, a deep affection founded upon respect and equality, must always be mutual. There can be no coldness or indifference on either side, but must have a deep and settled attachment in harmony.

A helping hand extended to a lost "ex" or a fellow student will revive pleasant memories of his school year of '44 and '45.

So to the "friendship", a symbol of our school, we dedicate this '44-'45 edition of footprints.

- 14-Rehearsal for Class Night

Seniors Thank Faculty

As the close of school draws near, we, the seniors, wish to acknowledge our thanks to all the B.H.S. faculty. I am sure that all of us can look back and remember some small incident that occurred during our high school years that brought us a little trouble. Think hard, and you will always remember the teacher who gave you a helping hand, and then the trouble was no more.

We will always recall certain favorite remarks used by our teachers. For example, Mr. Adare in Biology Class when asked a question that he is not quite sure of, "I'm not going to tell you. The reason I'm not going to tell you is simply that I do not know."

The Journalism students can surely remember Mrs. Elliott saying, "Students, let's plan the paper for next week." These are just a few of the many, many remarks that will ring in our ears after graduation. And when a group of ex-seniors meets to talk over old memories, you, the faculty, can be quite sure that your names will be among the pleasant thoughts. Peels of laughter could be heard from the group if someone were around to hear it. Probably the answer to this outburst would be one of the boys recalling the many trips he made to the office (and trying to remember the exact reason why he was sent each time.)

Some boys of our class may not be able to meet with the bunch, though, I'm sure as they lie on their G.I. bunk and think of their school days, a smile will slowly spread from their heart to their face.

We also wish to thank you for being so lenient in grading our test papers. You may not have known it, but that made the flame in our hearts burn brighter and gave us more of a desire to make good, not just for our sakes, but for yours, too.

We cannot mention everything that we wish to thank you for, but just remember that we will never forget you and your kind deeds.

Gay Allen

Perhaps you have wondered why we chose the colors green and gold on which to print this edition of the Commentator. Since it was dedicated to the seniors, and their class colors are green and gold, we thought it appropriate to use these colors.

The staff members of this "Senior Special" are:
Editor-----Guthrie O'Donnoll
Assistant Editor---Nancy Chamberlain
News Editor-----Lolita Hoffington
Society Editor----Ranita Smith
Sports Editor-----Reeves Jungkind
Feature Editor----Janell Baker
Business Managers--Patsy Veazey and Chas. Alexander

Basic qualities:

Reach third by square dealing

MOTHER'S DAY

Mother's Day

The honor of the origination of Mother's Day belongs to Miss Anna Jarvis of Philadelphia. Her mother died in 1906. On Sunday, May 9, 1908, she told a friend, whom she had invited to remember with her the anniversary of the death of her mother, of her desire to dedicate a day to all mothers. Before the next anniversary came she had interested many individuals and organizations in the observance of the second Sunday in May as Mother's Day.

On May 10, 1913, a resolution passed the Senate and House of Representatives dedicating the second Sunday in May to the memory of the best mother in the world, your mother.

This year Mother's Day comes on May 13, which is also the date of our baccalaureate, so it has a double meaning for us.

Mary E. Wagner

We are all proud of the boys formerly of B.H.S. who are now serving Uncle Sam in the various branches of the service all over the globe. Some of these who, had they not interrupted their education in order to bear arms in defense of their country, and who would be Seniors this year, are:

SOCIETY

Junior and Senior Banquet

Glowing candles, beautiful music, and a happy atmosphere greeted the lucky seniors who were honored by the juniors at a banquet given in the high school auditorium Friday night, April 13, 1945.

Generally enjoying themselves were couples Adelle Dickens and Harold Norvell, Lolita Heffington and Horace Ashabranner, Patsy Veazoy and Selwyn Ligon, Elsie Lee Christiansen and Leroy Ellett, Opal Adams and Harold Matern, Mac Hammond and Carolyn Kolodzie, and Mary Wagner and Jack Hahn. These are just a few and there were lots of stags.

The program was clever and just right. We liked the entertainment offered by the band from out of town, and were very glad that we could dance until twelve o'clock.

I would like to thank all of you Juniors for a swell time, and to tell you that we will NEVER forget it.

Ranita Smith

Here and There

Romance seems to bloom out of no where these days. Spring brings boys and girls out of their shells with their eyes wide open and the car full of gas. (?)

The Concession Building seems to be the desired spot for parties these days. The little birdie tells me that a few new romances have bloomed there. Not giving away just who I am referring to, I'll mention only a few names, such as, Mildred McPhaul, Jerry Daugherty, Gay Harler and LoRoy Atkison.

Burnet boys are quite timid when it comes to asking girls for dates, but a few did rake up enough courage to ask someone to the Jr.-Sr. Banquet. One could readily tell what girls had dates because of the gleam in their eyes, and the way they watched the boys while dancing with other girls. That's a pretty good idea, too. As usual, before the evening ended, several other couples were formed. It wouldn't be possible for me to say just whether the girls were responsible or the boys. Ask G.O.B. and R.H.

Here and there

I'm wondering if you all have noticed that Cricket B. and Mildred M. have been hitting it off pretty well here lately with ex-seniors.

Mary Jean Boase seems to have left her heart in our neighboring town of Bertram. Do you ever think it will be returned, Mary Jean??

Genova S. is all out for a certain Tech School Boy. His name being Tommie Price.

We wonder if Wilma Dean's return to Burnot could have been---partly the cause of Kerry H., or---Well, that's enough said.

Every time we venture into a class room we bump into the love-bird twosome, Neville C. and Bebe K. Wonder where they find all these things to talk about.

FLASH: One of my secret workers just told me that not long ago Earl Clendennen and Patsy Jo Stark were seen at the movie together. Here's hoping it is the start of a beautiful friendship.

In B.H.S., as in all other schools these days, we find several "waiting for my boy friend's return" girls. Some, we would be safe in saying, have already secured a wedding band for the third finger, left hand; I am referring to Lucille Hahn Adams and Clendina Jarvis Chesebro. And it may not be too long before a certain Senior blond (Lolita) and a Merchant Marine (Roland) become Mr. and Mrs. Here's wishing you luck, Sailor!

To end this little bit of so-called gossip, I'm going to say that I'm very proud of the High School boys and girls. Don't faint, readers-but they have been regularly attending church services. The only trouble is that I hope they didn't have the "tummyache" on Tuesday night.

Juvenile Junior Jangles

The juniors express their regret for the loss of four of their active members, Van Haile, Charles Harrison, Ray Wood, and Budgy Daughtery. Van has enlisted in the navy, while Charles has enlisted in the merchant marines. Ray is now working near Cherokee, Texas, and Budgy is doing his utmost to pass the test for his drivers license.

The juniors also wish to express their deepest appreciation for the splendid co-operation shown to them by the faculty, room mothers, and sophomore girls in preparation of the Junior-Senior Banquet.

The responsibility of writing the news for the Commentator has fallen on the shoulders of the juniors. Temporary editors have been elected as follows: Editor, Horace Ashabranner; Assistant Editor, Adelle Dickens; Society Editor, Mildred McPhaul; Feature Editor, Ernestine Bible; News Brief Editor, Harold Matern; Sports Editor, Dale Stapp.

During a brief class meeting, it was reported that approximately $42 remains in the bank. All members attending the meeting decided to donate ten dollars to help pay for a mimeograph machine and have the remainder for senior rings next year.

We wish we could trade for: Maxine Norris's expressive blue eyes, Hollis Baker's wit, Charles Crawford's winning smile, Lila Rea Owens' grooming quality, James Smith's enthusiasm for V.A., Odell Mallott's musical ability, Calvin Lewis's speaking ability, Frances Brook's and Ernesteen Ellis's friendship, and Alton Weeks's and Paul Lawson's good nature.

Have You Noticed?

David and Harold Matern, the only twins in high school are in the Junior Class.

Joyce Schlomach and Evelyn Rogers are inseparable friends. Wherever Joyce goes you can be sure Evelyn will be there also.

Mildred McPhaul seldom wears the same dress twice. Where do you get all those cute clothes, Mildred?

Has anyone noticed Mix Hallmark never fails to wear his hat to school?

The boys have started a new fad with hats as a reward for helping pack the clothes to be sent over seas. What will they try next?

Beryl Jean B.'s favorite song is "Honky Tonking".

Charles Alexander's strange attitude toward the Burnet girls was suddenly explained. It could be Llano.

The first two junior socials were held at Betty Ann Lichtenhahn's home.

SENIORS IN REVIEW

Just in case that you have forgotten the seniors who will not be back with us next year, here is a list of them and some facts about each.

Gay Marler, the petite little gal with flashing brown eyes who came to us from Houston.

Louise Lifeste, the blonde "Man-hater", who is very quiet until she gets a letter from Joe, is a member of the String Class and the Home Making Club.

Ranita Smith, the song bird of our class, has contributed much to our school. She was one of the Pep Leaders of 44-45, photographer for the "Footprints" and is a member of the String Class.

Guthrie O'Donnell, our six foot athlete and class wit, rang up honors in football, basket ball, volley ball, and was tops in the class play.

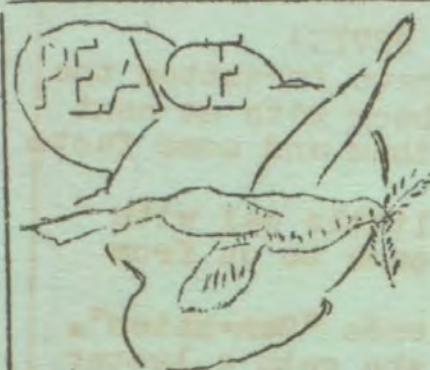

Mac Hammond, who made a hit managing the Bulldogs of '43 and helped smash our opponent line in '44, has a polite greeting for everyone and is popular with all classes.

Lucille Adams, our only Mrs., has contributed her share to school progress through the Home Making Class and Club.

Annie B. Hereford, one of our best all-arounders, has won the hearts of many by her jovial, friendly nature. She participated in the Spanish and Home Making clubs.

Janell Baker, lively little brunette who gets "flabbergasted" and dashes madly thru the halls but who always settles down and contributes more than her share in school activities.

R.G. Wood, another of our "six footers",

EDITORIALS

The year of 1945 will long be remembered by this Senior Class, not only because of their graduation, but for several outstanding events in world history.

In the death of the only president the seniors can remember, we lost a great and beloved leader, Franklin D. Roosevelt. One of the finest tributes we could pay him would be for us to do our part toward making his dream of a better and more decent world come true.

We will also mourn the death of Ernie Pyle, well-known war-correspondent, who died at the hands of a Jap sniper.

The World Security Conference made up of representatives of 46 nations met in San Francisco for the purpose of establishing a basic organization for future peace.

As the Allies entered Berlin, one of the largest man-hunts of history began in search of Hitler. The death of Mussolini has already been announced.

April-fool jokes were, in part, prevented by the fact that Easter Sunday fell on April 1.

Unpredictable April lived up to its name by the freezing temperature on April 4. The May flowers should be pretty as April showers were frequent.

We hope the year 1945 will bring lasting peace to the world.

Nancy Chamberlain

Ridiculous Fashions

Glancing around the campus of B.H.S. reveals that both the boys and the girls indulge in some fads and fashions that look pretty silly.

A visitor from another country or another age, dropping in for a days visit, might well suppose that the girls had exchanged their "crowning glory" for frizzy rats' nests. There seems to be no such thing these days as smooth and shining hair. It has all been baked in the permanent wave machines at the local beauty shoppes until it resembles the kinky mops of the wild man of Borneo. To look over the collection of fuzzy pompadours and shoulder length artificial curls bending over their books in the classroom makes one wish for some good old fashioned straight hair. In spite of the fact that most of it looks as if it had never seen a comb, the girls seem to spend plenty of time arranging it.

Most of the boys, on the other hand, spend no time whatever combing their hair. It is just about as disorderly looking as the girls'. Some of the boys solve the difficulty by getting burr haircuts, which don't exactly help their beauty but make it impossible to tell whether a comb has been used or not.

Perhaps it is not exactly fair for a boy, who naturally enjoys the comfort of trousers, to criticize the girls for wanting to wear slacks or blue jeans, but if those same girls would take one good look in the mirror, they would have to admit that they look better in skirts. Sweaters are fine, but why do the girls have to put them on backwards and push the cuffs up above the elbows?

The boys try to match the girls' sloppiness by coming to school wearing shoes that have never seen a brush or polish, and with fingernails with several acres of dirt under them, to say nothing of ears you could sprout corn in and fingernails with several acres of dirt under them.

If the girls must wear lipstick and nail polish to school, it would be nice if they would keep it in good repair. Too often their lips have only a thin outline of red left on the outer edges, with the remainder licked off and the lacquer on their nails has chipped until it looks extremely weather-beaten.

I never could quite understand why the boys roll their pants legs up short, unless it is to show how dirty their socks are, or to reveal the manly hair on their legs.

In one last gripe, I will confess that I would like to give a good sharp tweak on some of those silly ear rings that dangle from the girls' pierced ears.

Everyone is anxious for the speedy and safe return of all these boys to their homes and dreams of the future.

Seniors in Review

participated in football, baseball, basket ball, and volley ball.

Jack Hahn, "the efficient Jack", is class president, Business Manager of the "Footprints" of 44-45, Best all-around boy for 43-44, and most popular boy for 44-45. He also played football, volley ball, and baseball.

Eutha Gay Allen, the little blonde whose friendly greeting and hearty slap on the back will long be remembered by each of us.

Lolita Haffington, vice-president of the Senior Class, Editor of the "Footprints", News Brief Editor for the Commentator, News Editor for the Senior Edition, and Social Editor for the "Bulldog Special," is one of our outstanding girls who has contributed much to our school thru her hard work and lasting interests. She is a member of the Pep Squad, Home Making and Junior Historian clubs.

Janet Eaton, our meek little senior who is usually seen sitting quietly in study hall, has established herself a lasting place in our hearts.

Leroy Elliott, member of the Jr. Historian club, is always cooperative and specializes in "witty remarks".

Harold Norvall, F.F.A. President, is one of our most representative boys of Burnet High. He was elected to represent B.H.S. at Austin and plays on the football and base ball teams.

Dorothy Dennis, the hard-working red-headed senior who has found time to study, work in office, and also to be in the class play.

Advice to Freshman

Through good sources we have secured some advice to freshmen which we know will help them in the future if they heed it.

Jack Hahn, a good student and athlete, says, "Never talk back or wisecrack to an upperclassman. Be courteous and never get out of your rank; take your hardest subjects the first two years of high school if possible. Cooperate with your teachers at all times, enter sports and other extra-curricula activities."

Lolita Heffington has done well in her school work and these are some of the secrets of her success. She advises, "Pay attention in class each day, read your assignments daily, and don't try cramming for tests. Don't waste your study halls, but make proper use of them."

Another senior, Gay Allen, who has been a good and cooperative student, says, "Join all clubs and organizations you can qualify for. Plan your courses early in your school career and take part in all school activities."

Reeves Jungkind, one who knows, warns, "Attend school regularly."

Kerry Hevener thinks it's all right for seniors, but freshmen should never crowd in line at the lunch room.

We believe that if you take some of this advice, it will help you in your later high school years.

GIRLS, DO YOU LOOK LIKE A LOBSTER LATELY?

Now is the time for that longed-for sun tan, girls! Old Sol has braved the winter and is eager to send down some extra-special vitamin D beams for you!

Of course there's a trick to all trades and this is no exception. So get out your book of charm and jot down these recipes for a good sun-tan.

Necessary Ingredients:

One faded-addition to last year's sun-tan.

A strong constitution.

A long tiresome drive to the concession building on a sunny day.

A blanket. (in case you don't want your sun tan corrugated from these pebbles on the lake shore).

One bottle of suntan oil (for solitude, use olive oil---guaranteed).

For flavor, add a pair of sun glasses (to give you that wide-eyed look).

Apply sun tan oil on exposed surface of victim. Place on blanket and let bake from one to three hours. Test frequently to avoid burning. Yield; One baked "cookie"---

TIME TO PLANT FOR VICTORY -

Side Glances of the Sophs.

The Sophomore Class of '45 is proud of its 42 members. Five students have withdrawn, and we have one serving in the Merchant Marines (R. C. Hulium).

We have added four first string lettermen in football to the team of '44, and two were selected captains, Gerald Shelburn and Leroy Atkinson. Two were in the line, Winfred Wood and Eueron Taylor.

The Soph. Class has ten members of the F.F.A: George Breazeale, Guy Daugherty, Neville Clark, Dale Cox, Darrell Heine, Field Pougé, Leroy Smith, Gerald Shelburn, Allan Shepperd, and Jack Stanford.

We have had two new comers since mid-term, Mayne Scoggin and Wilma Dean Logan.

We have one married member, Mrs. Clendina Jarvis Choesebro.

We wonder:

When Dan U. and Billy F. will grow up. If Wanda will find a new interest in going to the p.o.? How Maudie Rushing, Ima Jean Stuart, and Wilma Stephenson find Algebra II. so easy.

Did you ever see:

Laura Jane Baker-angry?

Hazel Norris-ncisy?

Jean Kirk-in a good humor?

Velma Richter-idle?

Ruby Faye Wilkinson-social climbing?

Roy Wear-without something to read?

Charles Brown

Two old grads who had not seen each other in ten years discovered that each had been married in that time. "What kind of a woman did you get, Bill?" asked Joe. "She's an angel, Joe, that's what she is." "You're lucky. Mine is still living."

SPORTS

There may be some difference of opinion as to the place and values of spring football training. The majority of those who should know feel that a properly organized and conducted spring training or practice has a real place in the general athletic scheme of things, particularly in working with those just beginning participation in the sport.

I think that the spring training in Burnet this term was very successful, and the team is looking forward to taking the district championship next year.

Coach Howard Adare said, "I think we are going to have the best team that Burnet has had in years".

There have been five changes in the football rules for the '45 season. The first change is aimed at the unpopular out of bounds kickoff. The first kickoff out of bounds is considered merely an accident, a second kickoff out of bounds gives the receiving team the ball at the 40-yard line from which it was kicked. Second, forward passes are to be legally thrown from any place behind the line of scrimmage. Third, substitutes may officially report to any official instead of just the umpire. Fourth, the center in passing the ball must not have any part of his body ahead of the ball at its forward point and his feet must be behind the ball. The last change clarifies and strengthens the rule governing the use of the hands and arms in blocking.

The girls' volley ball team was composed of the following members: Lucille Adams, Mayne Scoggins, Opal Adams, Hazel Heine, Ernestine Bible, Beryl Breazeale, Cricket Baker, Elsie Lee Christianson, Mildred Hahn, Patsy Veazey, Bettie Bond and Frances Brooks.

The highlight of the season came when Burnet won the consolation prize at the Leander Tournament, and were given small silver volleyballs.

We, the freshmen, would like to take this opportunity to thank Mr. Patrick for being our sponsor this year.
